

FCPA Compliance and Enforcement Under the Trump Administration (CLE)

Friday, August 3, 2018
3:30 – 5:00 pm
Comiskey Suite, Concourse Level,
(West Tower)
Hyatt Regency Chicago
Chicago, IL

On October 6, 2017, Deputy Attorney General

Rod Rosenstein gave an address regarding revisions to the DOJ's corporate and executive prosecution policies. Specifically, Rosenstein stated that a planned change to the current

DOJ corporate prosecution guidelines "will reflect our resolve to hold individuals accountable for corporate wrongdoing," while reaffirming that the DOJ is committed to "fostering a culture that supports and promotes the investigations and prosecution of individual perpetrators of corporate fraud."

What Does this mean for FCPA Enforcement?

What has the Trump Administration done to date re recent settlements, prosecutions, and publicized investigations? What's the status of DOJ Fraud Section "Pilot Program." What's the effect of increased international cooperation in investigations and global settlements. Scenarios in which problems are most likely to surface; key industries; key jurisdictions; and M & A Diligence.

Program Chair:

Steven F. Molo

Partner
MoloLamken LLP
New York, NY

Panelists:

Matthew Miner

Deputy Asst. Attorney General, Criminal Division
U.S. Department of Justice
Washington, DC

Marta Carreira-Slabe

Chief Counsel
Aon PLC
Chicago, IL

Pablo Quinones

Executive Director and Senior Fellow
NYU Law School Program on Corporate
Compliance and Enforcement
New York, NY

Megan Cunniff Church

Partner
MoloLamken LLP
Chicago, IL